RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY THE LOCAL BAR ASSOCIATION

Judges A. W. Agee and A. E. Pratt, sitting en banc in the district court at 2 o'clock this afternoon, acted upon the resolutions of respect of the members of the Ogden Bar association upon the death of Elias Conway Ashton, who was accidentally killed in the mine at Bingham last week.

In addition to the resolutions, the two judges and members of the bar spoke in praise of the deceased lawyer.

It is said that Republics are ungrateful. The young man who entered the military service during the late war now asks for recognition in the local government of this city. Have you forgotten, Citizens of Ogden, the war? Do you want to show your gratitude and at the same time do a good turn for your City, Ogden, by electing a "live wire" to office? If so, vote tomorrow for J. R. Ward for City Commissioner. Committee of Returned Soldiers, Marines and Sailors. (Political advertisement.)

"THE LOTTERY MAN" BY WALLACE REID

Letters, lines and spaces are entirely inadequate when it comes to a matter of describing the bubbling humor, the dashing frivolity, the refreshing cleverness that is "The Lottery Man" in film. It was shown to a crowded house last night at Utah theatre.

Wallace Reid is at his best in the play. But he is, after all, only a factor therein. Neither is James Cruze, whose direction is perfect, more than that. Not can settings, continuity, etc., be discussed with the usual fairness to the whole.

It is the whole that must be considered, for the composition is primarily a unit and emphasis is placed upon any part thereof is trifling.

The only way to gain a clear impression of the play is to see it upon the screen. And this every man, woman and child in America should be enabled to do.

It is American humor at its best. It is American film at its best. Its appeal is universal and the subject matter is fresh and clean as a dew-sparkled daisy in its dell.

The War Memorial that was talked of for Ogden's Service Men may be forgotten now, but tomorrow at the Primaries every citizen can show his appreciation of the man who saw service in the late war by voting for J. R. Ward who made good as a soldier and an officer and who will make good as City Commissioner if elected. Committee of Returned Soldiers, Marines and Sailors. (Political advertisement.)

Trial Set for Wednesday—Ben Cohen, arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of selling intoxicating liquors, was arraigned in the city court this morning. His trial was set for Wednesday morning. Bail was furnished in the sum of $200. The arrest was made by Detectives Grant Syphers and Ben Butterfield.

Arrested—Charles B. Winchell was arrested this afternoon by the sheriff's department upon the charge of issuing and cashing an alleged bad check at the Marion hotel.

Winifred Sheehan, general manager of the Fox Film company, passed through Ogden this afternoon for Salt Lake.

Pres. Widtsoe—President J. P. Widtsoe of the University of Utah was in Ogden last night and addressed a large audience at the Second ward chapel.

Alimony—A stipulation was filed in the district court this afternoon by Grace Lauck against Christie C. Lauck, in which the plaintiff agrees to accept $25 a month for each of the three children and $50 a month for herself, as long as she remains unmarried.

New Firm—O. F. Mitchell and Grover C. McPetk have consolidated their business interests and have opened an office in the Eccles building for the handling of grain, potatoes, hay, flour and produce. The new firm expects to have a warehouse upon trackage in the wholesale district; also a retail store in the business district.

Girl Is Found In Unconscious Condition By Police

Miss Dottie Bingham, 3256 Adams avenue, was found in an unconscious condition on a night last night, at Thirtieth and Washington avenue, and taken to the home of G. F. Hollingsworth, 2979 Washington avenue, where first aid was rendered.

According to the police, mystery surrounds the case. After regaining consciousness, Miss Bingham was unable to determine whether she had been accosted or whether she had merely fainted.

The attending physician stated that the cuts on her face could have been received in the fall to the pavement. Several weeks ago Miss Bingham was accosted while en route to her home by an unknown man. On this occasion the man called her by name, snatched her purse and ran away in the darkness.

Deaths and Funerals

CULP—Word received yesterday was to the effect that Mrs. Rachel Culp, aged 82, of Toledo, Ohio, had passed away. Mrs. G. W. Tripp of this city is the daughter of Mrs. Culp and has been with her since September 1. Burial will take place at McCoombs, Ohio.

BUTTERFIELD—Betty Louise Butterfield, three-week-old daughter of William Edward and Lizzie Drew Butterfield, died at the family residence, Washington avenue and Canyon Road, last night at 10 o'clock. Three brothers and three sisters survive. Funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in Larkin's chapel, Bishop Arthur Budge officiating. Remains lie in state tomorrow from 10 to 1. Interment City cemetery.

Mr. Butterfield is a member of the police department.

FOWLER—Mrs. Rachel Taylor Fowler, wife of the late Samuel Fowler, died yesterday at 4:40 p. m. at the residence of her son, B. A. Fowler, 538 Thirtieth street. She has been suffering ill health for a number of years. Mrs. Fowler was born in England January 22, 1840, the daughter of John and Elizabeth Fowler Taylor. She came to America in 1866 and was married to Samuel Fowler in Salt Lake City in 1868. The couple then made their home at Hooper.

Mr. Fowler was the first nurseryman in Hooper and one of the first settlers in that vicinity. Mrs. Fowler had lived in Ogden since last fall with her son. She became a member of the Latter Day Saints church in England, and has always been an active worker. She was well known in Ogden and Weber county and leaves a multitude of friends. She is survived by the following children: Ephraim Fowler, Aquila, Idaho; Mrs. Rachel Peterson, Clinton, Utah; George E. Fowler, Hooper; Mrs. Annie Osman, Sugar City, Idaho; D. H. Fowler, superintendent of schools at Coalville, Utah, and B. A. Fowler, superintendent of Weber county schools; also by 36 grandchildren. The body was taken to the Lindquist chapel.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Hooper meeting house, Bishop James R. Beus officiating. The casket will be open at the home of the son, George E. Fowler, in Hooper Wednesday from 10 a. m. to time of services. Floral offerings may be left at Lindquist chapel until 9 a. m. Wednesday.

Ex-Service Men in Appeal to Public

In a public statement, the ex-service men of Ogden point out that the men who served their country are not receiving the recognition they should in a public way and they express the hope that the people will not prove unkindful of the patriotic work they have performed.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to sincerely thank all who in any way assisted us during the illness and death of our wife, daughter and sister, Mary Elizabeth Brown, ISRAEL C. BROWN, MRS. JOHN SEN AND FAMILY.

Samuel Fortier Is Entertained

Samuel Fortier, government irrigation expert, was the guest of A. R. Heywood at a banquet given at noon at the Weber club. A number of personal friends of Mr. Heywood's, including several local engineers, were present.

Society

Numbering among the pretty affairs of the past week was that of Friday evening when Mrs. A. C. Cohn and Mrs. J. Benowitz of the Jewish Aid society entertained a large number of guests at the Pythian hall on Grant avenue. The hall, which in itself is attractive, was made even more so by the use of bright fall flowers and leaves and a feature of the evening's entertainment was the service of a delicious luncheon which immediately followed a program of excellent musical selections and readings as well as short addresses. Little Miss Cecelia Cohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cohn, delighted the large number of guests with the recitation of "Nobody's Little Girl," and the tiny miss was heartily applauded and responded graciously with an encore number.

Following the luncheon dancing was enjoyed for which Miss Lillian Thatch's orchestra furnished a fine program of selections.

The party was given as a benefit for the war sufferers and a neat sum was realized.

Members of the Pan-Hellenic association will meet at the home of Miss Vera Tracy, 231 Twenty-first street.

Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. All members of Greek letter societies of the United States are invited to be present.

Ferdinand D. King, a member of the Skaggs Grocery company of this city, and who for some time has been in the United States service overseas, was married recently at Fort Scott, Okla., to Miss Esther King, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Cavanaugh. The ceremony was performed in the Catholic parsonage at the fort by Rev. Dr. Mather and was witnessed by immediate members of the Cavanaugh family. Following the ceremony the bride and groom were entertained at a wedding dinner at the Cavanaugh residence and still later in the evening they left for Ogden where they will be at home at 985 Binford avenue after November 1.

Mr. King is very well known in Ogden and his many friends here wish him happiness.

The Women of American Patriots will hold their regular meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the Elks' home.

Members of the Daughters of the King of the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Guild hall. A full attendance is desired.

Mrs. Joseph Ferraro entertained her pupils Friday evening at an informal reception. A number of musical selections were given by the pupils.

The Ladies' Literary club will meet Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Arnold Bowman in the Wright apartment.

Miss Norma Streeper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Streeper, and Claude Maddock were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Wednesday, October 15, in the Salt Lake temple. A wedding supper in honor of the young couple was given at the home of the bride's parents. Covers were laid for a goodly number of near relatives. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the happy young couple.

PUBLIC WITH LABOR LEADERS WHO ARE NOT RADICAL

The Hardware Bulletin says: "John Mitchell died last month possessed of $250,000. Since his retirement from the presidency of the United Mine Workers of America, in which capacity he served from 1899 to 1908, aside from 2 years on the lecture platform, his time has been chiefly occupied serving upon non or low remunerative boards and commissions. Surprise was manifested that he had accumulated such a tidy fortune; a huge one if judged from the literature of today's typical labor radical. When he led the great anthracite strike in 1902, which President Roosevelt arbitrated, John Mitchell was rated by capitalists as the extreme in radical unionism. Perhaps the strangest feature is that his entire wealth was invested in stocks and bonds, and his principal securities were those of the coal mines and coal roads which he fought 17 years ago. The intervening years had tempered his judgment. Labor capitalists are safe labor leaders. Labor leaders can be classified into two divisions, the 'haves' and the 'have-nots' or the conservatives and the radicals respectively. The former group is composed of men who have studied economics, the Mitchells, the Gompers, etc. They are men who have accumulated competence both of mind and of purse. Among the 'have-nots' are numbered the Haywards and the Reds. In organization ritual the distinction is emphasized between the constitution of the A. F. of L. and the I. W. W. The former is gaining the ascendancy and the 'have-nots', with no physical assets to lose, are losing caste with the public. There is a port tie-up in New York with union officers roundly condemning the walk-out which contravenes an agreement. Most magazines in New York have suspended publication because the extreme radicals of the local bodies are flouting the regularly constituted authority of the national organization affiliated with the A. F. of L. There is no point of contention between the employers and the unions. These class differences of the two labor groups are pregnant with economic good. Public sympathy is with the conservative 'haves', and they are desirous to gain ascendancy. The decline of radicalism will inspire the confidence of capital.
